IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

RESOLUTION

Honoring the bravery and legacy of the Clinton 12.

Whereas education in the United States is a fundamental right;

Whereas the Supreme Court of the United States unanimously ruled in Brown v. Board of Education that racial segregation in public education is unconstitutional;

Whereas the school system in Clinton, Tennessee, began to desegregate in 1956 as the result of a court order;

Whereas the students who desegregated Clinton High School were Jo Ann Allen Boyce, Bobby Cain, Anna Therreser Caswell, Minnie Ann Dickey Jones, Gail Ann Epps Upton, Ronald Gordon Hayden, William Latham, Alvah J. McSwain Lambert, Maurice Soles, Robert Thacker, Regina Turner Smith, and Alfred Williams;

Whereas these students known as the “Clinton 12” were among the first students to desegregate a public high school in Tennessee, and among the first students to desegregate any school in the South after Brown v. Board of Education;

Whereas, in August 1956, the Clinton 12 were pursued on their walks to school by white supremacists including the Ku Klux Klan, were threatened with violence, and in some cases were forced to flee the community;

Whereas for years the town of Clinton was the target of white supremacy that resulted in the calling of the National Guard to protect the students and culminated in the bombing of Clinton High School in 1958, which was never solved;

Whereas amid this racism and violence, the Clinton 12 walked to school to pursue the right to an equal education; and

Whereas students across the United States today still face discrimination and inequities in educational opportunities: Now, therefore, be it
